Packed Meeting Sees Council Vote Unanimously Against Liquor License

By Isadore Parker

Almost fifty local citizens crowded the city council chambers last Monday night to express their disapproval of the request for a liquor license by a local businessman. Five ministers, Rev. Edward Birner (Lutheran Church), Dr. Glenn Samuelson (Baptist Church), Charles Gill (Methodist Church) and Rev. Ken Wyatt (Community Church) voiced the objections of their congregations and Rev. Robert Hull spoke for the local delegation of Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc. Petitions bearing signatures of 1002 citizens were presented by Rev. Wyatt and Barbara McGee offered a petition including the names of 150 teen-agers, all objecting to the establishment of a liquor store in the community.

Abe Chasanow, local real estate businessman, disclosed that he is contract purchaser for a liquor license now available, and has petitioned the county liquor board for approval. A public hearing on the appeal will be held in Upper Marlboro on March 17, at 10 a.m.

The discussion lasted three hours from 8 to 11 p.m. after which the council voted unanimously to recommend disapproval of the request to the liquor board.

Other objections heard included the Center School PTA, the North End PTA, and various local citizens. The main objection was the possible unwholesome effect the existence of a liquor store in Greenbelt would have on the youth.

Chasanow defended his application for a license, citing many legal precedents which allow a liquor license even though a majority of the citizens were against the proposal. He reminded the group of the "tyranny of a majority" expressed by a judge in the "dog-cat" issue, for which he had provided leadership and resulted in a decision to permit GHI residents to keep pets.

A liquor store in Greenbelt is inevitable, Chasanow stated. He reminded the citizens that it would be better to have a resident of 20 years standing, and with an abiding interest in the community, manage such a store, rather than an outsider. He also disclosed that GCS had once tried to establish a liquor store in Takoma Park through the same license that is now available.

The laws governing the sale of liquor are more severe and restrictive than those governing the sale of dope, Chasanow declared, adding that he would be risking his liquor license, possible disbarment, and real estate license if he violated any of the legal safeguards.

Drunken drivers, attracting "hard" men and women, easy temptation and its proximity to the schools, youth center, swimming pool and ball field were stated as other objections to the liquor store by citizens. The council was urged to look upon the opposition as a moral rather than a religious viewpoint.

(One dispute, on which the issue may be finally decided, was the requirement for a liquor store to be situated at least one thousand feet from the nearest school. Chasanow declared the distance to be 1020 feet, and city manager Charles McDonald disclosed the distance to be less than 1000 feet.)

Councilman Tom Canning declared that he thought there were more important things of "necessity to life" than a liquor store needed in Greenbelt, such as a shoe store. Dave Champion, councilman, declared the number of signatures seemed to be a mandate from the majority of the citizens to vote against the granting of a license.

GARDEN PLOTS

Residents who wish to be re-assigned their garden plots should notify Hans Jorgensen at GR-4-9286 before March 15.

Bids Made on Youth Center Construction

Bids for construction of the new Youth Center building were opened in the city offices last Tuesday, and the three lowest bids were announced by city manager Charles McDonald. They are: James Partello, Hyattsville, $131,575; Farragut Bros., Chevy Chase, $134,441; and Free Williams, Rockwell, $135,865. Acceptance of the lowest bids is expected next week, and construction may start in 30-60 days. Partello is the builder of the new fire department building now in construction.

The low bid is over $15,000 lower than anticipated by the city. In view of this, the city manager was directed to negotiate with Partello on putting back in items previously removed for reasons of economy.

School, Wednesday, March 16 at 8:15 P.M.

Voting for directors continues all next day,

Thursday, until 7:00 P.M. at the Twin Pines Office.

15 Candidates to Vie for Nine GHI Board Posts in Annual Meeting

by Al Skolnik

A total of fifteen candidates will compete for the nine vacancies on the board of directors at the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. annual election on Wednesday and Thursday, March 16 and 17, according to Beverley Fonda, chairman of the nominations and elections committee.

Henry Brautigam, 2-Q Gardenway and Cyril M. Kovalchik, 4-F Hillside are the latest two candidates to enter the contest.

The audit committee also has two new nominees - incumbent William P. Helm, 6-N Plateau, and Mrs. Carolyn Fowle Green, 6-B Plateau. Biographies of all the candidates appear on the inside pages of this issue.

GHI officials stressed the importance of getting a quorum for the annual meeting, Wednesday night, March 16. Attendance of 10 percent of the membership or about 150 persons is required for a valid election or for the conduct of official business.

Members of the corporation who are unable to attend the meeting may be counted toward the quorum if they complete a proxy form assigning their voting rights to another GHI member. Blank proxy forms may be obtained from the GHI office. The completed proxies must be returned to GHI secretary Bruce Bowman, 14-Z-3 Laurel Hill rd. or to the GHI office by midnight, Friday, March 11.

Voting Procedure

Unlike city elections, no previous registration is needed for voting. "Your membership in the housing co-op is your ballot," GHI officials said. "Just present yourself at the Center School Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. and you will be issued a voting card which will entitle you to cast a ballot and to vote on any business matters that arise."

Each family is entitled to only one ballot. Voting at the annual election is by secret ballot, with each member asked to vote for as many choices as there are vacancies. The polls will resume opening the morning following the membership meeting at 7 am. at Twin Pines office (Old Post Office quarters) and will close at 7 p.m. Robert C. Hull has been engaged to supervise the casting of ballots.

Successful candidates will need a majority of the votes cast, unless two-thirds of the members approve a proposed by-law change calling for election by a plurality vote. If this by-law change is defeated, those candidates not receiving a majority vote will have to compete in a run-off election a week later. The ballot in the run-off election consists of twice as many candidates as there are positions to be filled. Candidates polling the greatest number of votes are declared winners in the run-off election.

Other Issues

In addition to the election of officers, the membership will consider a proposed by-law change to stagger the terms of the board of directors. If this change is approved, the 4 candidates receiving the highest votes next week will be designated for the 2-year terms; the remaining 5 will serve a one-year term, to be elected again next year. The audit committee will continue to serve for one year.

The membership will also be asked to reduce the quorum for the annual meeting from 10% of the membership to 5%. However, a 10% quorum will be required to take action on this proposal. Other proposed by-law changes give the board authority to make loans for the purpose of financing home improvements and the resales of housing units, to hold one meeting a month in June, July, and August, and to set the annual membership meeting for any day in the month of March.

The membership will have before it a proposal to raise the salary of board members to $750 a year and a resolution requesting stronger and more adequate controls of pets by municipal authorities. These motions, unlike the by-law changes which require a two-thirds vote need only a simple majority for approval.

GHI By-law Changes Considered

Members of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. will have an opportunity at their annual meeting on Wednesday, March 16, to vote on a series of by-law changes proposed after long study by a 3-man committee consisting of Bruce Bowman, Bernard Bordenet, and Allan Morrison. This committee was set up last spring to give the by-laws a thorough overhaul as many existing provisions had become obsolete or had been found wanting due to the passage of time.

Quorum Changes

One group of changes deals with the provisions for a quorum at the annual membership meeting. The requirements are changed from 10 percent of the membership to 5 percent or 75, whichever is less. In the absence of a quorum, authority is granted the members present, in accordance with Maryland law, to call a further meeting (with 15 days notice to all members) at which time the members present, regardless of numbers, will constitute a quorum for purposes of transacting official business.

We are not certain that lowering the quorum requirements is the best solution to the problem of reduced attendance at Membership meetings. We can understand the concern of the corporation for making certain that it will be able to continue operations and to secure official sanction for its actions, regardless of attendance at meetings, and it may well be that 5 percent is a more realistic quorum requirement than 10 percent for an organization of this size.

Nevertheless, the GHI board, as the governing body of a cooperative, has an obligation to undertake measures that will stimulate and revive flagging membership interest in the co-op and instill in the members a sense of responsibility. The board cannot simply throw up its hands in despair and seek the easy way out by lowering the quorum requirement.

It should be remembered that the main goal is more active participation by members, and if this means more positive action and energy exerted by the board—well, this is what the board is getting paid for. One suggestion has been that court captains be appointed who will be pledged to guarantee the attendance or proxies of at least one-third of their courts. Another suggestion is for the board to publicize and dramatize for each year's meeting, key decisions that it is facing. For example, the meeting this year could have been pitched to the question of what to do with the $133,800 from the land sale, with literature sent out ahead of time describing the main considerations involved.

Election Procedures

Another group of changes deals with election procedures. The plurality system of voting is substituted for the majority system. Those candidates receiving the highest number of votes will be declared winners, regardless of whether they receive more than half the ballots cast.

We are in favor of this proposal. The majority system in all but one year has resulted in run-off elections which drew relatively few voters. In most cases, the results of the run-off have paralleled those that would have been obtained through the use of the plurality system. The elimination of the run-off election will mean a saving in money and effort on the part of both the candidates and the corporation. If there is some fear that a plurality system will encourage bloc or bullet voting, the only test is that of experience to see if this fear materializes.

Another election proposal being considered is that of staggered terms of 2 years for the board of directors, with half the body up for election each year.

We are in favor of this proposal. There has been very little turnover among the board members from year to year. In last year's contest, 7 out of the 8 incumbents who ran were reelected, and in the previous year the entire board was reelected. Thus, the necessity for staggered terms to insure continuity on the board does not appear to be pressing.

In fact, what might be more appropriate is some device to insure a greater degree of turnover in election positions, such as a limitation on the number of consecutive terms a member can serve. In any event, we feel that interest in the annual meeting and the accompanying election will be dulled rather than stimulated by having only 4 or 5 board vacancies to be filled each year rather than 9.

Land Sale Proceeds

A third group of changes deals with the financial operations of GHI, of which the major one is the granting to the corporation of authority to make loans for financing improvements to GHI homes and the sale and resale of GHI housing units.

The board has not yet reached a decision as to whether top priority should be given to using the proceeds from the land sale for financing resales or financing the renovation or rehabilitation of the exteriors of the GHI frame homes. The proposed by-law change gives the board authority to move in either direction as soon as enough facts become available to make a decision.

While we favor the by-law change, we feel that what the board needs from membership at this time is not so much authority to act as a directive indicating which way it should move. We therefore suggest that members take advantage of the meeting to express their general desires regarding the disposition of the proceeds from the land sale. The board could then study the legal and financial feasibility and desirability of the various proposals and, after assembling all the facts, come back to the membership for a final decision, perhaps through an advisory mail referendum.

Pay Increase for GHI Board

The GHI annual meeting will also consider a proposal to increase the pay for board members. At present, directors receive $400 a year and officers of the board $500. The new amount would be a flat $750 for each board member. One argument advanced for the increase is that city councilmen receive the same amount.

Considering the fact, however, that the GHI board consists of 9 members and the city council of 5 members and that therefore the time and effort required of each member is probably less for GHI directors than for city councilmen, we do not feel that an increase of this magnitude is justified.

A more modest increase to, say, $500 for members and $600 for officers would seem in order. This increase could be justified on the grounds that in the future the corporation's fringe benefit program for hospital, surgical, and major medical expense insurance, which is now available to GHI board members, may lose some of its value as many board members who are Federal employees will choose to participate in the Federal Employees Health Program, effective July 1, 1960, rather than in the GHI medical program.

TEENAGERS PROTEST

To the Editor:

Perhaps it is thought by some readers that the youth of Greenbelt have no interest in the future of this city.

It has come to our attention that there are future plans for a liquor store in our shopping center. We feel that the proposed establishment could seriously damage the moral attitudes of Greenbelt's Youth. At present the juvenile delinquency problem is not a serious one in our town. However, with liquor easily available to irresponsible adults who might allow it to reach the hands of young teenagers, an increase in juvenile crimes would probably be noted.

Another aspect of this problem is the safety of our town's many children from drunken drivers. We realize that liquor can easily be obtained from other outside sources, but with alcoholic beverages easily attainable in the town, there would tend to be an increase in citizen consumption, therefore resulting in more intoxicated drivers.

Greenbelt has always been known for its wide-spread recreational facilities and wholesome environment for youth. A liquor store would not be in keeping with the city's purposes and ideals for its youth.

There is a need in Greenbelt for stores more desirable than a liquor store. For example, the citizens have always wanted a good restaurant; shoe stores, hardware, and clothing stores would also be an asset to the community.

We feel that the establishment of a liquor store in Greenbelt, for the above reasons, would be generally degrading to the plans and purposes of our city. We join with Greenbelt's churches in opposing a liquor store for our city.

Respectfully,
Two Concerned Teenagers.

WANTS LIQUOR STORE

To the Editor:

I have just been asked to sign a petition AGAINST the granting of a liquor license for a store in Greenbelt. A liquor store . . . how convenient, I thought. Why should anyone not want one here?

Religious scruples? Those of us who don't drink won't be forced to do so because liquor is sold here. But how undemocratic it would be to keep those of us who do drink from buying liquor here!

Attraction of undesirable people to our center? Fortunately, Greenbelt is located so that a person who lives outside Greenbelt will have to pass one or more liquor stores to get to ours. Why should anyone drive further to come here?

Surely it is safer for us to patronize a store in our own town than to drive several miles over dangerous highways to get liquor.

Prohibition, as we know by experience, doesn't work. Let's be realistic, and take a step to expand trade and attract new families to Greenbelt with improved services.

Sincerely,
Nancy Lea Brierley

It has been suggested that a conflict of interest may exist because of my holding positions on the GHI board and the City Council. I feel, after some months of experience, as I felt before election, that I can be of greater service to both GHI and the City by serving in both positions. Greenbelt is coming into a period of growth and progress such as it has never before experienced. There has never been a time when cooperation and coordination can be more important.

We are developing plans to utilize several valuable sections of property belonging to the Corporation to increase income and thus reduce charges to the members.

The work I was heavily engaged in on your Board several years ago has borne fruit, approximately $140,000 worth. The use of these monies to provide the greatest return to the membership is one of the major goals to which I plan to work if you see fit to reelect me.

He has also been active in the Greenbelt Consumer Services, since its inception to the present, serving as congressman. Activities in the Greenbelt Federal Credit Union have been a more recent addition to Mr. Morrison's schedule.

Since May 4 1959 he has been serving the citizens of Prince George's County as justice of the peace with office at the County Service Building in Hyattsville.

The erection of homes for elderly persons is strongly favored by Mr. Morrison. All voters are urged to participate in this election. Passage of the proposed amendments to the by-laws is urgently needed for the proper functioning of our co-op housing.

Charles M. Cormack, Sr.

Candidate for "Auditors Committee"

After graduation from Cornell University in 1920 as a Civil Engineer, I entered the real estate business as a member of the firm of Cormack Rich and Co. in Buffalo, N. Y. Our firm engaged in sales, management of rental property, insurance, subdivision, and construction activities.

In 1935 I was called to active duty as a Reserve officer in connection with CCC activities and served as Officer-in-Charge of Construction and Company Commander in camps in N. Y., N. J., and Utah, until 1938, when I accepted an appointment as Management Engineer with the United States Housing Authority in Washington, D. C.

For the past 22 years, except for military service of 3½ years during World War II, I have been engaged in the management supervision of public housing projects throughout the United States and territories. My present position is Director of Management Operations of the Public Housing Administration. Over 450,000 dwellings are now operated under this program.

In 1946 I was appointed Community Manager of Greenbelt and served in that capacity until 1949. We have lived in Greenbelt for the past 14 years and both my wife and I have been active in community organizations.

At the request of the original Board of Directors of GVHC I served on the committee which estimated probable operating costs, developed basic operating policies and developed formulae to govern the appointment of costs to members. These policies have proved sound and laid the foundation for the successful operation of our mutual corporation.

William P. Helm, 6-N Plateau Pl.
Candidate for "Auditors Committee"

Since commencing law school two years ago, I have lived in Greenbelt with my wife and children. Prior to this and pursuant to my business administration training at the University of Maryland, I performed accounting and auditing duties in military and civilian positions in the capacity of a Naval Officer and as a representative of the United Mine Workers. Since graduation from Georgetown Law School in February, I have devoted my full time to preparing for the Maryland Bar Examination.

As a member of the Audit Committee for the past year I have inspected and studied the corporate financial records and participated with the other members of the Audit Committee in recommending improvements. These recommendations, made to the Board of Directors, related to such things as adequacy of financial statements, proper designation of accounts, vacancy losses, and the apparently long overlooked by-law requirement of the Auditor's advice in regard to corporate reserves. (I understand that the proposed by-law revisions will eliminate this requirement). Now that I have attained substantial familiarity with the financial records of GHI and would like to continue serving on the Audit Committee your vote is respectfully requested.

JCC Buys Three Acres Adjoining Building

The Jewish Community Center has exercised its option to purchase three acres of land directly behind the JCC building running eastward toward Southway. On February 19 a down payment was placed with the balance to be paid a month later. The land is expected to be used for additional facilities.

Negotiations for the purchase of this land began over six years ago when Greenbelt Homes, Inc. owned the property. Upon the sale of the land to Warner-Kanter, JCC was promised that the new owner would honor previous commitments as soon as the land was released from the mortgage. When the land was resold on December 22, 1959, to Webb and Knapp, Marvin Warner, who took over the Greenbelt properties as his share of the Warner-Kanter partnership dissolution, arranged to give JCC a 90-day option to purchase the three acres.

GHI Reports Nets Gain of $20,000 for 1959

For the seventh straight year, Greenbelt Homes, Inc. finished its operations in the black, according to the corporation's annual fiscal statement for 1959. Total income amounted to $1,197,200 and total expenditures to $1,177,200 (including allocations to contingency reserves), leaving a net gain to the housing co-op of $20,000. This compares with net gains of $29,200 and $4,300 reported in 1958 and 1957, respectively. The 1959 figures exclude certain non-recurring items such as the profit of $101,400 from the sale of the land stock and the expense of $34,800 for water meter installation.

Monthly income from members and tenants during 1959 were up some $23,300 from 1957, primarily as the result of the increase in monthly charges that went into effect at the beginning of the year. Expenditures incurred with respect to the operation of the housing units also increased during 1959 — by $25,100.

City and county real estate taxes showed the largest single increase from 1958 to 1959 ($13,500), followed by increased water expenses of $12,400. The later reflects experience since the water and sewer system was taken over by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission.

Other increases were registered in heating costs ($4,400) and administrative and board expenses ($5,500), reflecting mainly the pay increase of 10% and 7% voted for blue and white collar workers, effective January 1, 1959, and the fact that fringe benefits first voted in 1958 were not fully felt until 1959.

Offsetting these increases in part were drops in the costs of maintenance and repairs ($1,800) and in insurance expenses ($2,100). The latter saving reflects a fire insurance rate reduction granted in mid-year plus interest savings on prepayment of loan.

Income from non-operating sources such as services sold members, sales commissions, garage rents, and interest on savings in 1959 dropped $6,800 below 1958 income, while expenses incurred in connection with these items increased $500 during the year.

Junior High Features
Canned Milk Cookery

By Eileen Ryss

Since the beginning of November, one class, section 8-B, of Greenbelt Junior High School has been working on a special project for canned milk companies under the sponsorship of Mr. Saul Schur, executive director for School and Industry Services in New York City. The idea behind this project was for the girls, under the direction of their home economics teacher, Mrs. Virginia Puffinburger, to discover and experiment with different ways in which canned milk can be used, and to prove that canned milk can be used for purposes other than to add to coffee and as a baby food.

To accomplish this they divided themselves into five committees; one to cover foods prepared in Greece, one France, one England, one Sweden, and the final one was the planning committee. The purpose of the committees covering the four countries was to look up information about the eating habits of the country; plan menus that could use canned milk, using foods from that country; and last of all try to cook those foods and eat them.

The cooking of the food was the most popular of all. Many a Tues-

While all this was being done, the planning committee put their heads together to figure out a way to present the information which had been gathered. The final presentation of the Canned Milk Project is a booklet containing pictures of the class carrying out their particular activities, reports on the food customs of the countries studied and lucious tasting recipes, authentic of that country, using canned milk.

When The SIREN BLOWS

By Rita Fisher

The men were called to the scenes of three auto accidents this week. On the 3rd of March they were at the scene of an accident on the B&W Parkway and Beaver Dam Rd. On the 4th, they were on hand to assist on the B&W Parkway again, this time at 12:32 a.m. The cause of the accident was a faulty gas pedal. When it stuck, the car skidded into another auto. Injured was a man from Alexandria, Va., with lacerations of the forehead, pain in the area of the ribs, and small cuts on his hand. The other person injured, a D. C. resident, had swelling on the calf of his left leg with no broken bones apparent and abrasions in the left eye. Both men were taken to P. G. by the Rescue Squad. The third accident, involving Greenbelt residents, occurred on Sunday, March 6. Details have been described in the Police News Review. Oxygen was administered to one of the victims because of a previous heart condition.

Firemen were out on Thursday, March 3, at 10:50 p.m., along with other fire companies, on a mutual aid call because of a building fire at Telegraph and Glendale Rds.

Calls for the Rescue Squad were numerous during the week. On March 3 they were called to Hillside to carry a man to Leland Memorial Hospital. The man had a heart condition but was not in need of oxygen. A woman on Ridge Rd. needed assistance on March 4. Suffering from a stroke on her right side, she was taken to P. G.

Three calls came in on the 5th. A man on Parkway Rd., coughing and spitting blood, was carried to Bethesda Naval Hospital at 8:27 a.m. Oxygen was administered en route. The boys were called that evening for stand-by duty at Maryland University. No injuries reported. The men made a run to the 6300 block of Greenbelt Rd., but the call had already been taken care of by an outside company.

A 74 year old woman, suffering from pneumonia was given oxygen as our men transported her from her home in Berwyn Heights to Leland Hospital on the 6th at 12:11 a.m. A call came in from the parents of a 10 month old baby on Greendale Rd. at 3:52 p.m. The child had a fever and convulsions. He was carried to P. G. A resident of Westway, while in the 37 court of Ridge, slipped on the ice and suffered a possible dislocated left elbow. He was taken to P. G. at 7:34 p.m.

A man arrived at the Fire House on March 7 at 1:38 p.m. His finger had been cut through to the bone at the second joint. First aid was administered to stop the bleeding and he was carried to P. G. for treatment.

I stopped down at the Fire House last Wednesday night after the close of the regular men's meeting to check their reactions about meeting in the Engine Room. Their outspoken reaction was that it was cold. I saw Rescue Squad Chief Clindest sitting at a make-shift table (a barrel and board), handing out Ambulance drive folders. The men were in a good enough mood, but the meetings won't be lingering ones, over the good old stand-by cup of coffee, until the new Fire House is ready.

Nineteen women attended a cozy meeting at the home of President Cleo Dutton last week. Although it had been planned to hold the regular monthly meeting in the Engine Room, the women decided to meet at the President's home instead. They prefer the warmth of the home to the cold of the "House."

Three men put in a total of 143 hours up to December 31, 1959, as Emergency Room attendants at Casualty Hospital. The men, sometimes putting in twelve hours a day, are doing this on a voluntary, non-paid basis. They received their training at Andrews Air Force base last year and started to put their knowledge to use sometime last fall. Thomas Oney put in a total of 89½ hours, Dennis Dunn worked 41 hours, and Gary Dinehart spent 12½ hours at the hospital. We're proud of you, boys.

The Fire Department was called out on Saturday afternoon to lend assistance in fighting a fire on a farm out in the Bowie area. The men arrived on the scene just about the same time that the other fire companies had successfully extinguished the brush fire.

The Rescue Squad had a standby crew on hand twice last week at the request of Maryland University. At a basketball game on the 24th, they were on hand to cut a ring from a man's finger. At the Bob Hope shindig on the 27th they listed the following first-aid report: "Oxygen given one beautiful young lady - age 20."

The only emergency call for the week came in on the 25th. A little seven year old boy was bitten on the face by a dog and was taken to Prince Georges Hospital for further treatment.

One routine trip was made for a woman requesting transportation to Prince Georges Hospital on February 28.

You may be interested in knowing that I have been doing my typing lately down at the Firemen's hall. Since this is no more, and since they moved the desk and typewriter upstairs, I have only one comment to make! Its cold up here.

The Marching unit of the Ladies Auxiliary performed its first drill Wednesday, March 9 at the Firehouse at 8:30 p.m.

High Point High Points

By Marion Ryss

Due to that beautiful snow storm that occurred last Friday the activities planned at High Point for that weekend were cancelled. This cancellation included Blue and Gold Night and the Band festival. Students will face the faculty on Friday, March 11, in the school gym instead of last week as previously announced. Plans and fun will still be the same. All you old alumni, why not make this your opportunity to revisit the scene of your high school graduation. The price is still 50c, and a dance will be held afterwards sponsored by the Student Council.

The Band festival has been postponed until April 2, and the same arrangements that were planned for last Saturday will hold true at that time. A reminder will appear on the Thursday of that week.

The Senators Look Ahead to 1960

At contract signing time in 1960, Calvin Griffith will be paying four pipers for the tune his eager drummers played last summer to stir up gate interest in his team. The "Fearsome Foursome" were being billed as awesome to enemy pitchers as the "Murderer's Row," including Ruth and Gehrig, which the Yankees used to wheel up to home plate. As it has turned out at this contract time, Harmon Killebrew, Jim Lemon, Bob Allison, and Roy Sievers believed all the wonderful things that were being said about them.

When the baseball wars ended last September and there was a stillness in the Stadium that Uncle Clark built, the Senators, unlike Abou ben Adam, did not lead all the rest. Indeed, they ended up in the cellar where their less illustrious predecessors of 1957 and 1958 found themselves.

The morals of this tale are twain. First, Griffith must now rue the public relations puffs which inflated his home run hitters to a size beyond their value to the team. Second, and of more than transitory interest, numbers of home runs are by themselves no true indication of a team's worth. The Senators led in circuit clouts until near the end of the season when they tailed off and were nosed out by the Cleveland Indians. However, they still almost doubled the output of the Chicago White Sox who only won the pennant going away. If the Pale Hose trailed in homers, they probably observed as they collected record World Series checks in October that they don't pay off on that, but in team balance.

Why were the Senators so bad? The fact that in Camilo Pascual they had the best pitcher in the league only compounds the mystery. The answer must be sought elsewhere, and team defense is a good place to look. The Senators couldn't make the double play and their overall defense was leaky. Even the "Fearsome Foursome" left much to be desired when they were not at the plate wagging their bats menacingly at the opposition thrower. Roy Sievers, with a permanent shoulder injury, could keep few runners from taking that extra base. At first base, he was no Gil Hodges. Jim Lemon can catch a fly ball with the best of them but is positively the worst regular outfielder we have seen on ground balls. Bob Allison has to learn much about the outfield. His reflexes are not to be confused with Willy Mays'. Harmon Killebrew alternated all season between making spectacular stops at third base and egregious blunders of throwing the ball away.

So the second moral is the urgent necessity of tightening up the defense, even at the cost of hitting power. Griffith, who had less reason to stand pat in the inter-league trading period than any of his other 15 fellow-club owners, managed to do so despite the fact that four prime second basemen were on the market. Billy Martin, Don Blasingame and Johnny Temple went on the trading block, and the Yankees kept dangling Gil MacDougald as trade bait.

Griffith now has a higher payroll to meet than last year's with prospects not measurably higher. And if he doesn't get the good Spring start from his sluggers that he received last year, the next summer could be a bad one in the fiduciary league as well.

Mrs. Greenbelt at Home

By Vivian Greenbaum

For many years now I've been aware that I married a frustrated actor. Now a frustrated archaeologist can go out into the back yard and dig holes. A frustrated artist can doodle on the telephone pad and criticize the Rembrandt print hung up over the TV set. But a frustrated actor — and this is the point I want to make — needs an audience.

I gamely went along with him until Rachelle got old enough to share his Thespian activities. (Rachelle is a chip off the old block, or in this case a slice off the old ham). At this point we acquired a tape recorder which enabled them to be their own audience as well, so I was relieved of this duty. The other day, however, I was pressed into service to listen to their latest tape, and it was too emotional an experience not to share.

The tape began with a musical background and Russ's voice announcing:

"The Greenbelt Players bring you each week the best in theatrical entertainment. Here are a few highlights of the treats in store for you in our coming productions."

"First, comedy!"

(Sound effects of banging door.)
Russ: "Sh-h-h. Don't wake Percy. He's asleep in the bathtub."

Rachelle: "Why is Percy sleeping in the bathtub?"

Russ: "Because the faucet leaks, and he's a big drip."

"Now Romance."

Russ: (In a sticky Charles Boyer-type voice). "Tell me that you love me."

Rachelle: (In a Marlene Dietrich voice) "I love you."

Russ: "M-m-m. Tell me again." Rachelle: "I love you."

Russ: "Let me hear it again."

Rachelle: (Screeching). "I love you, I love you!"

"And now drama!"

In this scene, Hansel and Gretel, both played by Russ, have just arrived at the witch's house and are greeted by the old crone, played by Rachelle. (You will note that here they drag in little Eric).

Rachelle: "Heh, heh, heh, what a nice little boy and girl. I am the wicked old witch, and this is my baby. Say something, baby."

No answer.

Rachelle: "Say something to the nice little children." (In a stage whisper) "This is your line, Eric. Say something, you stupid kid."

Eric: "I a baby witch."

Russ is already quoting the Broadway critic's rave reviews about Rachelle and has her next fifteen years plotted out. "Creative dramatics now, then studying drama at Catholic U., then training under Strasberg. And after that the world — Broadway, the West End!"

The newly reorganized Greenbelt Players go into rehearsal next week. Rachelle is ingenue, Eric is juvenile, and Russ and I are characters — actors, that is. This is a case where if you can't lick 'em, join 'em. We're obviously loaded with acting talent, but we could sure use a good script writer.

PROTESTS RACE LISTING

To the Editor:

I was looking through the Rescue Squad supplement to the News Review and was surprised to find the list of 1959 Ambulance Calls divided according to the race of the patient. I have always felt the greatest respect for the ideals of the men on the Rescue Squad; therefore this little item took me aback.

I am aware that there are people to whom this is a subject of the most absorbing interest. Nevertheless, surely it might be possible to overlook it when the human being in question is being rushed to the hospital. No doubt different people hold different opinions, but I'm afraid my husband and I found it rather offensive.

Sincerely,

Junior High Hoop Team Has Undefeated Season

The Golden Bears of Greenbelt Junior High School had their first undefeated basketball team in the school's history. Greenbelt swept through a 12-game schedule defeating all of their opponents. The first team was composed of four Greenbelt boys, James Caruso, Lewis Caruso, Ken Powell, and Alex Grant. The fifth starter was Jim Tucker, a seventh grade boy who became the first seventh grader to play regularly for the Greenbelt Bears.

The team's leading scorer this season was James Caruso, the team captain, who tossed in 143 points in 12 games. Alex Grant finished with 115 points, Lewis Caruso 98 points, James Tucker 90 points, and Ken Powell 83 points.

All five boys made the scholastic honor roll at Greenbelt for the past marking period. A "B" average in all subjects must be attained in order to achieve this goal. Alex Grant was placed on the Principal's Honor roll for receiving straight "A's" in all subjects.

WORDS AND MUSIC

By Harry Zubkoff

Noteworthy new books published by the Viking Press: LEAVES OF GRASS by Walt Whitman — a masterpiece of American literature; THE SAILCLOTH SHROUD by Charles Williams — fast-paced suspense drama; FRIDAY'S FOOT-PRINT by Nadine Gordimer — intensely perceptive observation of life in Africa today; THE OUTLAWS ON PARNSUS by Margaret Kennedy — literary criticism by an outstanding novelist; A TWIST OF SAND by Geoffrey Jenkins — superb sea adventure; MARIANNE by Frederic Mullally — a thrill packed novel of suspense; STREETWALKER by Anonymous — remarkably sensitive treatment of an age-old subject; THREE AT WOLFE'S DOOR by Rex Stout — Nero Wolfe, master detective at his best; FOR YOUR EYES ONLY by Ian Fleming — a British secret-service thriller; A FINE AND PRIVATE PLACE by Peter S. Beagle — a new young writer with an active imagination.

THE SAFETY PATROL

The Safety Patrol you must obey. When his arms are out, off the road you stay. He's on the alert for trucks and cars. To save you from those awful scars. So don't be lying where you once stood. The Patrols are there for your own good.

By Robert Alden, Center School

OUR SAFETY PATROL

By Linda White, Barbara Pettit, Susan Jackson, Ruth Amberg, and Mary Hope Dixon, Center School. The Safety Patrols help us. They help us throughout the year, whether we're walking to school or walking home.

The Patrols are always here. The Patrols are always at their posts.

Watching the cars go by, And if they were not there We might be up in the sky. Help your Safety Patrol help you. Some day you may thank him, too. Let the safety signs remind you to look left and right.

For if you don't, you might get a dreadful fright.

Before you cross the street each day Look both ways, left and right. For if you don't and you get hit, At the thought I get a fright.

Always mind your Safety Patrol Safety first, not third, For if you don't some child May never be seen nor heard.

Don't disobey your Patrol. Keep this in good mind If you don't, you will see, Your will will soon be signed.

The Patrols help you to cross the street

And help you home from school They help you almost all the time, Which I'm sure is a rule.

Patrols are always friendly To people like you. They help you almost all the time, Don't you wish you were a Patrol, too?

SALUTE TO SAFETY PATROL

Our Safety Patrols are always alert Not letting us go on the dirt, Helping us cross the street, Not letting us have a racing meet, Helping us know the right from the wrong, And making us walk along.

We think that he thinks that he's the boss, And he is I guess, but gosh! It seems like he's always yelling at us

But I guess it's our own fault, Though we do put up a fuss. For it always turns out that he's helped us.

So I say we should salute them. They make it possible for us to play and be gay

Instead of being in bed in the hospital far away.

By Cindy Fritz, Center School

OUR PATROL HELPER

A policeman is Officer Green. Don't be afraid of him, for he's not mean. He helps people, you know, In rain, shine, sleet, or snow. He's also Police Coordinator for our schools,

Also on the Safety Patrol rules.

Also on the Safety Patrol Mr. Merrick plays a vital role. He is our school's Teacher Advisor And makes all Patrols a little bit wiser.

He's our physical education teacher, too, And can do many things that we cannot do.

Our Principals, including Miss Long, Straighten things out when we are wrong.

They call the meeting for our Patrols, you know, And arrange the schedule for posts in sun and snow.

The Captains of our Patrols check each post.

To the Safety Patrols we'll make a toast!

Room 221, Center School

WHY SAFETY PATROL?

Mother, who is that boy out there? I don't see the boy, Where?

The boy who is holding out his hands,

And is wearing that white band. Oh, he's a Safety Patrol who makes sure you don't get runover.

Does he stop dogs from getting runover, like Rover?

He might, but his job is to keep you from getting hurt when you go to school,

And he makes sure you obey the safety rules.

How do you get to be a Safety Patrol? How, Do you?

If you are good in school maybe you will get to be a Safety Patrol too.

By Jeffrey Suslansky, Center School

Tourists At Lake

By Pop Bell

Saturday, February 27 will no doubt go down in local history as the day over 500 tourists spent the day at Greenbelt Lake.

One of the nice things about the visit was the fact that no more cans, rubbish and bottles were left at the lake parking site. You see, the visitors happened to be between 500 and 600 black ducks who arrived some time the night before and stopped over for a rest before starting north again. This was really a sit down strike, and one part of the lake was black with ducks. Several people had their cameras and were taking pictures of this unusual sight at Greenbelt Lake.

In regard to the bottles, cans, and other debris, there seem to be some people who consider the parking site a dump ground. Every day or so some one stops and unloads his junk. Better not do this. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Our local ducks have been doing fine and have been fed every morning since winter set in. They will no doubt be starting to lay eggs very shortly now and it will be appreciated if they are left alone.

The next big event at the lake will be on Saturday, May 7, from 7 a.m. until 12, when a big fishing rodeo will be held for all children up to 16 years of age. This is part of the National Youth Activities week. Some very fine prizes will be offered for both boys and girls. They will be on display at the Wilson Greenbelt Cigar Store. Watch papers for full instructions. Everyone who enters must register before starting to fish. The judges will be members of the Maryland Inland Fish Commission. The committee in charge will be made up of former presidents of the Izaac Walton League. It is being sponsored by the Greenbelt Recreation Department.
